Gay Marriage IN THE U.S....

SO NOW THE GOV'T IS TRYING TO REWRITE THE CONSTITUTION AGAIN AND OUTLAW GAY MARRIAGE... WHY SHOULD WE NEED TO ASK PERMISSION OF STRAIGHT SOCIETY TO GET MARRIED!? WHO ARE THEY TO JUDGE THE VALIDITY OF OUR RELATIONSHIPS!?

WELL, I'M FROM CANADA. WHERE GAY MARRIAGE IS LIKE ALREADY LEGAL. EHP I FIGURE IF I FALL IN LOVE AGAIN, I'LL JUST MOVE BACK HOME AND GET MARRIED!

NO, I DON'T SUPPORT GAY MARRIAGE... BECAUSE I DON'T SUPPORT MARRIAGE FOR ANYBODY. IT'S AN INSTITUTION THAT DOESN'T WORK. LOOK AT THE DIVORCE RATE! I THINK CIVIL UNIONS MAKE MORE SENSE.

I GREW UP WITH AN ITALIAN MOTHER WHO WAS PLANNIN' MY WEDDING SINCE THE DAY I WAS BORN... SO IT TOOK ME A WHILE TO GET OVER MY FEAR OF WEDDINGS! BUT I KNEW I WANTED TO BE WITH THIS GAL FOR THE REST OF MY LIFE... SO WE WENT AHEAD AN' GOT HITCHED!

THAT'S MY WIFE!

I DON' KNOW IF MARRIAGE IS FO' ME, BABY -- BUT WEDDINGS? THEY JUS' GIVE ME ONE MO' CHANCE T' LOOK FIERCE!!

TO ME, IT'S NO DIFFERENT THAN ABORTION. IT'S NO ONE ELSE'S BUSINESS WHAT YOU CHOOSE TO DO WITH YOUR BODY -- OR WITH YOUR LIFE!

WELL... I HAVE NOTHING AGAINST GAY PEOPLE, BUT I DON'T SEE WHY THEY NEED TO GET MARRIED...

OF COURSE I WANT MY BROTHER TO BE HAPPY... BUT TO BE HONEST, I THINK GOD CREATED MARRIAGE AS A SACRED UNION BETWEEN A MAN AND A WOMAN.

DUDE, IF NOT FOR RELIGIOUS DOGMA, THERE'D BE NO JUSTIFICATION FOR DENYING GAYS AND LESBIANS THE RIGHT TO MARRY! WHATEVER HAPPENED TO THE SUPPOSED SEPARATION OF CHURCH AND STATE?!

WE'VE BEEN TOGETHER FOR MANY YEARS NOW, AND I LOVE MY NENE. IF THEY MADE IT LEGAL TOMORROW, I'D DO IT IN A HEARTBEAT.

ME TOO. THEN WE COULD REGISTER AT TIFFANY'S AND I CAN FINALLY GET THAT SET OF CHINA I'VE ALWAYS WANTED!

The night sees a stellar line-up of top scene talent donate their time for what promises to be one of the charity events of the year. Your DJs on the night Steve Pitron, Wayne G, Brent Nicholls and Ben Jamin will keep you dancing, whilst Therese and Pam Ann will provide the awesome stage show entertainment. Also, courtesy of Man Around Travel, one lucky clubber will win a holiday for two to the first Montreal Outgames 2006. Tickets are £10 in advance from usual outlets or £15 on the door. Go along, have a ball and justify it all in the name of a good cause!

2ND ANNUAL CELEBRITY SHOPPING EVENT IN AID OF THT

DECEMBER 1st is World Aids Day and to mark the event, Topshop/Topman on Oxford Street is holding the 2nd Annual Celebrity Shopping Event in aid of the Terence Higgins Trust with 10% of their total sales going straight to the THT. From 6pm to midnight, shoppers can pop into the store for a cup of hot chocolate and pamper themselves with a relaxing backrub or a mini manicure before embarking on a whirlwind shopping spree. Celebrity supporters include Simon Amstell, Sara Cox, Anthony Crank and Lauren Lavine, with loads more celebs working the shop floor, stacking shelves, manning the tills and even checking shoppers in the changing rooms! Throughout the night there'll be live entertainment, chances of winning complimentary shopping sprees, on the hour every hour and something we all love - a complimentary gift-wrapping service.

MTV SEARCH FOR GAY VIRGINS

MTV are making a set of diary-style documentary films about young people, sex and relationships called The Virgin Diaries and are looking for virgins - yes virgins - between the ages of 16-23 to take part. The series will follow a selection of young people from diverse backgrounds, each with very different ideas about becoming sexually active and will premiere in the UK in 2006. So if you're aged between 16-23 and you have something to say about virginity or you're just desperate to lose yours email virgindiaries@tigeraspect.co.uk

DIDDY TAKES PUFF DADDY TO COURT

Diddy with Blondie's Debbie Harry

A leading gay DJ and club promoter has taken his battle with Puff Daddy to the High Court. Diddy (aka Richard Dearlove) lodged a High Court injunction against the American rap star on Wednesday over the rights to the name 'Diddy'.

Mr Dearlove, who says he has been known as Diddy since he was 8 years old and claims to have used the name professionally since 1992 is responsible for re-mixing tracks by Blondie, Sugababes and Marianne Faithful amongst others.

He has reached the number one spot in the US dance charts with his remix of Blondie's 'Atomic'. He has also had a UK hit single.

Mr Dearlove, who promotes popular monthly club night Megawoof said: "when Puff Daddy changed his name to P.Diddy there was not a great deal I could do because the name was slightly different. However, he now wants to be called 'Diddy' and this will cause me untold problems as we will both be releasing CD's and remixes at the same time. The confusion will kill my career."

GAY SEX LIKE PAEDOPHILIA, SWEDISH COURT IS TOLD

A preacher charged with hate speech for denouncing homosexuality as a "cancerous tumour" during a sermon defended his views in Sweden's highest court last week by saying that gay sex was an abnormality on a par with paedophilia.

Ake Green, 64, delivered a fiery anti-gay sermon two years ago that triggered a legal battle testing the limits of Sweden's freedom of speech. Green told the Supreme Court that his sermon was meant to warn gays that their lifestyle will result in an "eternal divorce" from God.

"If two men sleep with each other, or if two women do so, it is abnormal, just like paedophilia," Green said in his testimony.

Green became the first clergyman convicted under Sweden's new hate crime legislation, which was modified in 2003 to include attacks against homosexuals. The conviction was quashed on appeal by the country's prosecution service asked the Supreme Court to rule on the case.

In 2003, Green was reported as saying that gay men were more likely than others to rape children and animals.

THE UKC INTERNATIONAL HERO AWARD 2005: AND THE WINNER IS... NELSON MANDELA

NELSON Mandela is to accept the UKC International Hero Award at this year's black tie gala fundraising dinner on Friday 25th November. The prestigious award recognises the exceptional role that Dr Mandela has played as an international statesperson tackling the stigma and discrimination faced by people living with HIV and AIDS, both in South Africa and across the world. John Samuel, Chief Executive of the Nelson Mandela Foundation said that, "Dr Mandela is very honoured to be awarded the UKC International Hero Award." Previous Hero Award recipients include Sir Elton John and Liza Minnelli. ### FURTHER GAY HANGING ATROCITIES IN IRAN

OUTRAGE! has reported of yet more public executions of men in Iran accused of "same-sex acts". According to recent reports in the semi-official Iranian newspaper, Kayhan, two more young men, aged 24 and 25 years old, were hanged in a public square in the northern city of Gorgan - their crime being Lavat, which means sex between men or sodomy. Human rights groups point out that Iran often paints a dark picture of people that it executes and makes false claims of rape, kidnapping and spying, etc, in order to minimise public sympathy for the victims and to discourage public protests. The UK LGBT human rights group, Outrage!, is urging people to email their protest to the Iranian President, Mahmood Ahmadinejad at ahmadinejad@president.ir

CHURCH OF ENGLAND'S POSITION ON GAY RIGHTS IS EVIL, SAYS RIGHT WING BISHOPS

THE split in the Anglican Church over the issue of homosexuality has continued today with ultra-conservative church leaders condemning the policies of the Church of England as evil.

The 'Global South', a group of ultra-right wing, anti-gay bishops led by the Nigerian archbishop, Dr Peter Akinola, in a letter to the Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr Rowan Williams, urge him to reconsider his personal views on homosexuality: "We urge you to rethink your personal view and embrace the Church's consensus and to act on it, based as it is on the clear witness of Scripture."

Dr Williams has, in the past, been tolerant of gay clergy and at a meeting of the General Synod this week in London, he called for reconciliation over the issue of gay clergy.

The bishops urge the Church of England to seek a "conscientious exception" to the Civil Partnership Act to ensure that there it does not "give the appearance of evil with regard to its 'partnered' clergy."

A spokesman for Dr Williams said: "If this letter is a contribution to the debate to which the church is committed, then it is to be welcomed. If it is an attempt to foreclose that debate, it would seem to serve very little purpose indeed."

Earlier this month, Gene Robinson, the first openly gay Anglican Bishop, said that he believed that the Anglican Communion would eventually come to embrace gay men and women, although it is unlikely to be in his lifetime.

CHARLES CLARKE HINTS AT CRYSTAL METH RE-CLASSIFICATION

THE Home Secretary, Charles Clarke has made the strongest hints yet that Crystal Meth (methylamphetamine) could be reclassified as a class-A drug.

His comments follow a report from the Advisory Council on the Misuse of Drugs (ACMD), which examined toxicity, risk, manufacture and prevalence of the drug and considered whether the current classification is appropriate.

The ACMD did not recommend the immediate re-classification of the drug but voiced concern over the growing use of the drug. Also known as 'tina', 'krank' or 'ice', the ease of production and euphoric effects have ensured dramatic escalation of the drug's distribution worldwide. Crystal Meth users experience a temporary sense of supreme confidence, alertness and have an increased perception of self-attractiveness. On the other hand it also delivers paranoia, agitation and violence in some individuals.

Commenting on the report, the Home Secretary said: "while the ACMD did not recommend changing the classification of the drug, I particularly welcome their undertaking to consider methylamphetamine as a standing agenda item at their Technical Committee, and have asked the Chair of the ACMD, Professor Sir Michael Rawlins, to provide an update of the advice regarding classification in 12 months time."

He added, "Methylamphetamine is a dangerous drug that has had a major impact on communities in countries such as the United States. It is fortunate that we are in a position to take early action by introducing strong preventative measures to halt its use."

Earlier, in the week, Andy Hayman, the Association of Chief Police Officers' spokesman on drugs told the Guardian that Crystal Meth is easy to produce: "we are aware that this white odourless drug can be made with relatively inexpensive over-the-counter ingredients."

It is anticipated that following a review into the drug next year, the Home Secretary will reclassify possession of the drug as a class-A offence.

POLICE APPEAL TO THE GAY COMMUNITY

NEARLY four months since the murder of Newton Thompson, an Australian tourist staying in Paddington, police are appealing for help to find his murderer. Mr Thompson, who was 61 years old, was found collapsed in his hotel room at the Comfort Inn, Craven Hill Gardens, W2 on 1st August and was pronounced dead at the scene. A post-mortem revealed the cause of death was due to heavy blows to the back of the head. Police believe that it's likely that Mr Thompson had visited gay establishments while in the UK and are asking for anyone who may have seen him to come forward to help piece together his movements prior to his death. Anyone with information should contact the incident room on 020 7321 9251 or speak anonymously to Crimestoppers on 0800 555 1111 or Galop on 020 7704 2040.

Newton Thompson

POLICE are also appealing to the gay community for information about a 61 year old gay man missing since the middle of October. Alexandre Madeira Marques, known as Alex, is originally from Portugal but has lived in London for many years. He was last seen at his bedsit in Clanricarde Gardens in Notting Hill on Sunday 16th October. Alex is a single man, approx 5ft 8" tall with short brown hair, thin build and of Mediterranean appearance. He works as a waiter at the ARTS club in Mayfair, where he's known for being reliable and punctual. Police say that Alex's disappearance is totally out of character. Anyone with any information should call the police on 020 7321 9528 or speak anonymously to Crimestoppers on 0800 555 1111 or Galop on 020 7704 2040.

DANGEROUS LIAISONS?

All London boroughs have designated LGBT Liaison Officers, although only one is full-time: ADRIAN GILLAN examines how effective this system is in helping prevent or tackle homophobic hate crimes - like the murder of 24-year old Jody Dobrowski on Clapham Common last month.

"ALTHOUGH we support the role and value of police LGBT Liaison Officers," says Sergeant Richard Hendron, Met Coordinator for the Gay Police Association, "we do have concerns over how they are used and over the constraints imposed upon them." There are more than 140 LGBT Liaison Officers (LOs) in post across over 30 London boroughs - including the City of London - plus some centralised posts covering things like the Royal Parks. Nearly all are local appointments - the decision as to whether an LO is required, whether they are full or part-time and how many there are on each borough resting with the local commander. Only one LO currently operates full-time - in Lambeth. Everyone else does the role parallel with, or somehow in addition to, their normal duties. All are at least nominally co-ordinated centrally from Scotland Yard. Continues Hendron: "The Met's Diversity Directorate's generic job description for what LOs should do is only a guide, there being nothing forcing boroughs to follow this description - and many don't. This in effect can mean that different LOs on different boroughs carry out very different roles, some being more valuable than others. Many are impeded by their managers and workload, making it difficult for them to find the time to carry out liaison work, or release them to attend events."

Hendron is adamant that - deployed and supervised correctly - LOs could make a positive and powerful contribution, and thinks existing officers should be praised for the hard work and dedication they show - when given the opportunity to carry out queer activity. However, he also insists that - for some boroughs - LOs are just a box-ticking exercise, with designated officers constantly refused leave to attend events or given time to do LGBT-related work. His other specific criticisms include LOs being widely under-used in the investigation of homophobic crime; inadequate central co-ordination; and the current lack of an LO at the Transport Operational Command Unit to deal with things like bus and taxi crime.

"We used to have a pair of male and female LGBT LOs here," reminisces Bar Phoenix manager Al in Lewisham. "They were fab - running regular surgeries where people even came forward and helped solve crimes." However, Al claims she has hardly encountered any official police LGBT liaison since March, despite there having been at least half a dozen gay-related incidents locally in recent months, including a killing in Catford. One of Al's bar-men has just been attacked and she says local feelings run high: "Though I'm trying to keep a lid on things, I fear some people might consider taking matters into their own hands. At the end of the day, people either seek protection or they protect themselves. We need to know what's going on and what's being done."

Meanwhile, nearby in Lambeth, Ego @ Southern Pride manager Jay seems delighted with his borough's uniquely full-time LGBT LO, Graham Alldus: "I've met Graham on a number of occasions, both when I have requested a visit and also when he has just popped in to see how things are. Whenever there has been a gay-related attack or murder in London I have been contacted and kept up to date with information. That said, I'm not sure all gay attacks are easily prevented by police liaison. I fear some gay people will still go to dangerous areas, even when they know of risks."

"Police liaison with the LGBT community is patchy and irregular," contends veteran queer rights campaigner Peter Tatchell, not least in relation to the vicious murder of 24-year old Jody Dobrowski following a queer-bashing attack mid-October on the southern fringe of Clapham Common, in Wandsworth. "Information about previous savage attacks on the Common was not well communicated to the wider LGBT community. I cannot remember any police warnings being publicised in pink press."

Despite two men being remanded in custody to appear at the Old Bailey on murder charges in January; police patrols at other sites like Hampstead Heath being stepped up; and a Wandsworth LGBT

Network subsequently - and quite co-incidentally - being launched, Tatchell is still unhappy, siding with Hendron that more rigorous and resourced community liaison could better assist, not just with preventative warnings but also with actual investigations.

"Jody was bashed at around midnight on a Friday," he continues. "Soon afterwards, the police found his body. But no police statement about the murder was publicly released until the Saturday night, after most news deadlines. There was no police press conference until 4pm on the Sunday. Three days after the killing there was still no appeal for witnesses on the Met's website and no yellow incident boards placed near the murder scene at Clapham Common. The police response could have been a bit quicker. As the police themselves always say, getting witness statements in the first 24 hours after a murder is often crucial."

"The system doesn't currently work," concurs Samantha Goldberg, LGBT Community Liaison Coordinator of queer crime support and reporting group Galop, which had, itself, tipped off police about serious attacks reported to them by cruisers on Clapham Common just weeks before Jody's death. She also echoes Hendron: "It becomes the decision of the local borough Commander as to whether there actually is a local LGBT LO and - if so - how much time and resource they get to do their job. This leads to a lack of consistency of service and can place real restraints on the officers who are trying to do their normal day job and also commit their time to this important role."

"The Met's policy of having an LGBT LO in every borough is both excellent and entirely necessary," she concedes - again in Hendron's steps.

"Many of the LOs working in London at the moment are doing a brilliant job and work tirelessly in difficult conditions to try and ensure the LGBT communities are aware of who they are and what they do; and that the Met is trying to build bridges that historical poor treatment of the communities have burnt down."

"There remains much suspicion of the police amongst the LGBT communities," Goldberg concludes. "But LGBT LOs have been one of many factors that have helped in gaining trust. The relationship between the LGBT communities and the police is certainly improving but there is still a long way to go."

PC GRAHAM ALLDUS

LGBT Liaison Officer, Lambeth

PC Graham Alldus became the Met's first full-time LGBT LO back in May. He explains his Lambeth role.

A couple of times a week I study our computer system which documents any LGBT-related crimes. There are normally about 4-5 logged each week in Lambeth alone, reported through a variety of channels. Although not normally part of the investigating teams, I absorb all this information as background and contact the victims, offering support.

A lot of my time is also spent visiting the dozens of LGBT venues in Lambeth - not least in Vauxhall and Clapham - and liaising with the council and other service providers. I also go on patrols, out on the street, since visibility is so important to helping build trust and giving peace-of-mind. This sometimes includes plainclothes policing of cruising grounds - and not just in Lambeth - where I clearly yet discretely identify myself to cruisers. Again: useful for building trust and gathering information.

Other activity includes drugs-awareness campaigns, working with THT; liaising with local groups like the Vauxhall Gay Business Forum and the Lambeth LGBT Forum; going into schools to give talks; and, basically, just being readily available for any LGBT person who wants to speak with me.

In an ideal world there wouldn't be any need for a Liaison Officer like myself. But in the real world, every borough needs - and to varying levels has - a point of contact through posts like mine. Not all boroughs would warrant a full-time post, but it's possible other areas serving large gay communities will follow Lambeth's suit. And it's also two-way: we are here - ready and waiting - to be approached by YOU.

LGBTs living in Lambeth - or indeed more widely in London - are invited to contact Graham concerning crime or policing issues: T: 0208 649 2099, graham.alldus@met.police.uk

HOW TO REPORT A GAY-HATE CRIME

There are various options available to allow you to report a gay hate crime in the way most appropriate for you:

In an emergency you should always dial 999

For some types of homophobic crime you might want to deal directly with a specialist officer. In London you can contact an LGBT Liaison Officer via your borough's Community Safety Unit - all boroughs (details via www.online.police.uk) have such a post, although at present only one London post is full-time (Lambeth), and not all posts are necessarily currently filled.

You can also report a crime - on the record, or anonymously should you prefer - through LGB community organisations like Galop (www.galop.org.uk; 0207 704 2040, between certain hours); or through Victim Support (www.victimsupport.org.uk), who also offer emotional and practical support

True Vision - anyone can report a gay hate crime online via: www.report-it.org.uk

Of course you may even feel confident enough to drop into your local police station (details in your phone book or via www.met.police.uk)

TIME GENTLEMEN, PLEASE

This Saturday, Heaven celebrates its birthday with its new extended opening hours serving booze until 6am, whilst bars across London will now be open even later. Why has it taken so long for the government to modernise our draconian drinking laws, will we turn into a nation of alcoholics and who will benefit...?

MATT NEWBURY reports...

WE love a good moral panic on the gay scene. God knows we've lived through a few: getting AIDS from toilet seats, to the velvet mafia controlling politics and indeed the priesthood and, erm, more than our fair share of kids TV presenters coming out of that BBC Broom Cupboard. So we can handle the sex, drugs and house music, but it's been interesting to see how worried certain newspapers are about the changes in licensing laws.

They allege the streets of the UK are now primed to be flowing blood, puke, urine and half-drunk pints, as bars are set to open for 24-hours a day! Except, is that really the case? Let's look at things from a gay perspective. Sure, certain regional towns have problems with the so-called blight of 'binge drinking' but a fight in a gay venue is about as rare as... well a gay virgin, probably. The problems documented on Sky programmes about 'Reps On The Lash'/'Teen Bingers'/'When Good Drinkers Go Bad' (delete as applicable) aren't that relevant.

We are all adults, so why can't we enjoy our favorite tipples at our own convenience? Well, time for a quick history lesson - no questions at the end! It's all about fear really! The fear about a bacchanalian orgy of binge-drinking that will drown the UK is nothing new. Let's look at the thought process behind the changes in the law. It's all about tackling individual responsibility, the responsibility of landlords and very much the responsibility of local authorities.

Remember being taught about a guy called Samuel Johnson from school? Well, he said "there is nothing which has yet been contrived by man, by which so much happiness is produced as by a good tavern or inn." No argument there! Remember another guy called Oscar Wilde? Well he said "drink is the curse of the working classes" and our gay hero pretty much got it down in one.

The licensing law in the UK (yes those things you have to justify as being quaint to foreign visitors) came into its own during Victorian England. The belief at that time was that habitual drunkenness was the cause of poverty among the poor. So from the 1850s, restrictions on liquor and opening hours came into being. The (industrial) revolution wasn't being televised, but it was being censored.

The Licensing Bill of 1908, which attempted to reduce the number of licensed premises by a third, led to riots in Hyde Park, but it was the current laws devised during the first World War, that many of us have had to accept as being normal for all of our social lives. The government feared that war production was being hampered by drunkenness, particularly among female munitions workers - a view best articulated by Chancellor of the Exchequer, David Lloyd George, who observed that Britain was "fighting Germans, Austrians and Drink, and as far as I can see the greatest of these foes is Drink".

The War led to the licensing hours many of us remember, although the class arguments are apparent in attitudes expressed through the publication of the first book containing sexy scenes in Lady Chatterly's Lover. Wander around Prowler or Clone Zone today and you can purchase literally anything - back then this book was only released in hardback when the publishers and authorities believed the working classes (read 'scum!') wouldn't be able to afford it. From a class point of view, drinking was all about education and background - a game of chess where the pawns are inferior to the kings and queens.

Interestingly, the second World War changed little in drinking laws - pubs were closed in the afternoon, while Sunday afternoons were reserved for prayer meetings and 'family time' (remember religious groups got particularly pious when this changed). On the gay scene, this led to the introduction of tea dances. In parallel to prohibition in the States, it was almost definitely not just tea that was being served in those cups! Still, men's drinking clubs, for the privileged few, thrived.

On paper, regardless of your attitudes to drinking, the new government laws (promised in election manifestos) sound incredibly logical. Problems in the UK with drinking can almost certainly be linked to archaic laws. The new policy is aimed at avoiding the 'last orders' syndrome of packing several drinks in over the final hour of pub opening time, aiming to end the normal routine of the streets being full of people leaving pubs all at the same time and promoting a more 'continental' culture on the streets.

It's what we have wanted in London for ages! And combined with pedestrianisation of areas like Soho, could put our gay scene in the sort of marketable situation that being awarded Europride next year deserves. Let's face it, if you want a late night drink, you will find one. From the secret drinking dens of Soho (and former IRA hang-outs) to the Spanish bars around Tottenham Court Road) and other dens around Vauxhall and elsewhere, we can always get a drink. But as an international tourist destination - we need it to be 'totally London' (not tee-total London) as Mr Livingstone keeps promising!

So, what is going to change? Well not much really. Actually, as Nick Dynes from Westminster Council explains. "There are 3,600 licensed premises in Westminster, which not only includes bars, clubs and restaurants, but take-away establishments too. 272 have applied for extensions in the whole of Westminster, an area which already has several venues open 'til two, three or four in the morning. Anyone asking for a license 'til midnight on Friday and Saturday, was pretty much granted it, although it is obvious it was taken on a case by case basis. However, in a Statement of Licensing Policy it has been decided that certain areas of Westminster, especially residential areas, will not be granted extensions as the council believe they are already at saturation level."

What this in effect means is that you may notice the odd hour here and there being granted, but Soho isn't going to see any 24- ► hour pleasure palaces springing up, to put our 9-5 jobs in jeopardy. Westminster has also been critical of the licensing changes because of the timescale and processing. This is certainly a problem being faced by The Edge in Soho Square who still haven't received a final decision just a week away from the law changes coming into effect.

"We've applied to extend our opening by an hour to 2am during the week, and by two hours to 3am on weekends, but there is a large backlog and we have yet to receive a decision," says Adrian Eleftheriou, one of the guvnors at The Edge. "However, we are in what is known as a Central Activity Zone (CAZ) with all city centres, and the Police as well as the Council are putting blanket bans on venues opening really late. At the moment, no one is going to see a real difference when the laws come into effect. There's too much hype at the moment, but if things tick along and there are no problems, then eventually we may see a noticeable difference in the hours pubs can open."

Some venues have already seen their licenses extensions refused, like The Candy Bar, which is then leading to even more costly appeals. "I'm not at all happy," Kim Lucas, the owner of the venue told us. "It has already cost money to apply for the new license, while every day after 24th November, I am now losing money, especially as other venues have got 3am licenses."

Some venue's hours are also being reduced not extended during license renewal, as the Black Cap discovered. "We had a license at the Cap 'til 3am six nights a week, although we never really used it during the week," Jimmy Smith explains. "We can now only open 'til 2am during the week and three on weekends. The Black Cap now has an extra hour on weekends, although we didn't get any extension at Rupert Street and we are definitely going to appeal that decision."

"Obviously, we are happy about being able to set licensing hours, rather than the magistrates" Nick Dynes from Lambeth Council explains, "although there are currently appeals by many of the chain pubs. The magistrates will then make a decision, which will be the real test, as this would be returning the powers to them. The fact of the matter is that most bars and clubs don't want 24-hour licensing. It's too expensive."

There have been some winners however, with Heaven nightclub being granted a 6am alcohol license. "I think it's mainly due to the fact that Heaven is located in the Central Activities Zone but not in the West End Stress area - unlike many other clubs," explains Gavin Nicholls, the Marketing and Promotions Manager at the venue. "Heaven is also not located in a Residential Area. We are naturally very pleased to have been granted an extension of hours and it will be interesting to see how our customers react to it. Quite how this will change the nights here will depend on how the customers adapt to the changes. It is very exciting!

77 venues applied to go 24-hours in the Westminster area alone, but only seven were granted (1 cinema and six hotels), so we are not even going to be able to buy late-night drinks from off-licenses in the West End area. It seems it will mostly be local bars in greater London that will benefit most from the changes in the law. The table that accompanies this feature reflects this.

None of the government's strategies are being met, with many venues still shutting simultaneously, leading to people still binging at drinking-up times and leaving premises in large groups. It is good that powers are now with the Police and local authorities, who in turn are listening to the opinions and concerns of local residents, but what about us and our civil liberties?

"I think it'll be a good thing and will give Bar 68 more time to do specific nights like a girls nights and karaoke nights. 1:30am is not too late as most people don't come out until 8-8.30pm."

CENTRAL STATION, Kings Cross

"It won't make much difference to Central Station as we're open very late anyway. The only night that is affected is Sundays when we're going to be open through 'til 1am - which there is a demand for. There may now be 24hr drinking but we don't all have 24hr money. Overall I think it's a good thing."

We're glad of the extended hours because when it's busy, we don't like to have to stop serving and now we won't have to. Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays will now have cabaret 'til late."

JAY
EGO @ SOUTHERN PRIDE, Upper Norwood

"I remember when the licensing laws changed in the late 80s to allow pubs to open all afternoon and everyone was up in arms then saying it would lead to a nation of alcoholics, but that never happened. Although people can now drink 24 hours a day, everyone still has their limit financially and drink-wise."

VOLNEY
U WISH, Muswell Hill

"I'm all in favour of the licensing law changes. We should be able to do what we want, when we want. You can in the rest of the world, so why not here?"

STICKY FINGERS LOOKING FOR HOT CROSS BUNS - A NOVICE'S WEB GUIDE FOR CRUISING ON THE NET.

WHEN joining a contact/cruise/personals website there are a few things that you need to consider. The obvious is how much? After all, if you are looking for cock you don't want it to cost you an arm and a leg. Most sites offer free membership, and while some are generous with what they give away, others are tighter than a virgin's love pucker until you cough up the pink pounds to upgrade.

The size of the website database is also of consideration. No one wants to belong to a site without members, and there is some truth in the idea that the bigger the ocean, the greater the number of fish swimming in it. Remember though, joining a website based on numbers is more like drift netting. You might get what you want but also a lot more of what you don't, and no one likes to sort through the giblets to get to the fillets! Size isn't everything – as the old adage goes, it's what you do with it that counts!

With the increase in contact websites offering free basic membership, the 'extras' they offer us have become a major importance. Does it have chat rooms, instant messaging, pictures (general and x-rated), video streaming and chat, profile verification, hot lists, global members, shopping, travel, like minded people and services you can't get elsewhere? Well, you are about to find out as we get up close and personal with some of the more popular and better online contact sites.

www.gay.com

GAY.COM is a huge US-based site that has been making bigger inroads into the European market since they recently dropped their membership charges. The whole site has just had a facelift and is often more recognised as a lifestyle site that contains within its services a cruising/personals facility. On Monday evening we noticed there were 6,067,863 profiles to view and of these, 21,007 were online at that time. GAY.COM's marketing towards the London online cruise community is relatively new and they have approached this by sponsoring club events like Action and gay football team Stonewall FC in order to create an online image for this section of their site.

Despite the number of profiles, finding the right one is easy. A search engine is embedded into the page allowing you to choose various search strings, which are then cross-referenced with the available profiles. Setting up your profile is straight forward and the site allows both adult and general images to be uploaded. Like other sites, you need to fill in personal information including likes and dislikes and what you are looking for. This makes searches easier. Joining GAY.COM is free, but this comes with limitations. If you want to use their video chat, view private photos or access other specific areas of the site you will need a Premium membership. At the moment they have a special promotional offer where they will upgrade you for free.

GAY.COM, by far, has the most to offer in extras. Users are quite free to check out GAY.COM's 'channels' that are links to current news, gossip, what's hot on TV and the cinema plus features on Travel, Business and Style. They also have an extensive Shopping feature that is more a portal to a wealth of online shopping. Click under Mobile and enter the world of wallpaper and ring tones all with a gay flavour. They also offer a service called 'mobile match'. Once you set up your accounts, you can start to send and receive messages to and from your mobile using SMS. This has huge potential especially with the ability to send images and video over SMS. You will even be sent a list of profiles, once you join, that match your search criteria!

www.gaydar.co.uk

GAYDAR claim at the start of their site tour to be "simply the biggest gay dating website in the world". This claim was backed up by finding on a Monday night 36,368 people cruising the Gaydar site worldwide with 15,512 of those people online in the United Kingdom alone. Over one third of those we found in London and 20% of those in 'Central' London. It would seem Monday night in London is a very horny time!

Signing up is easy and free and, once joined, the site allows you to create your own profile (viewed by others as a thumbnail and when clicked opens to a full profile) where you can let guys know as little or as much about you as you like. There are also chat rooms divided up into locality although these are not as busy as the main online profiles section.

Search engines help you to find other members by name, area, interest or even star sign and once you have found the guys you want, you can add them to your 'Friends & Favourites', which will alert you when they are online. 'Instant Messages' (the backbone of the site) allow you to send and receive messages plus pictures to and from guys immediately.

Gaydar also have a feature called the 'Sex Factor' where you can vote for and view members in different categories such as Muscle, Leather, Skins and Sports Gear resulting in a monthly top ten; kind of an online beauty contest. Joining Gaydar is free, but this has limits such as how many profiles you can view, how many messages you can send and some of the features listed will not be available such as adding people to your favourites and friends. In the beginning this is fine, but you will find out you will run out of messages very, very quickly. Upgrading costs £8.00 per month, with discounts for joining for longer periods.

www.qxchat.com

THIS website is 100% free with no need to upgrade. By joining you are exposed to thousands of profiles. Our test night, Monday, revealed an online population of 4,553 with over 50% of those in London. QXchat.com falls under the umbrella site of www.gayone.com. This site provides tailored contact websites styled around the affiliate. They target certain bars, clubs and groups, which would most likely attract like-minded people. When you click on qxchat.com you may join two streams: a general stream and a fetish stream. You can select to merge them both. As a result, online profiles will reflect your choice. My impression of this site was that people were on it for one reason, SEX. The site offered numerous ways of getting in touch via Instant Messaging, Emails, Video Chat and by Audio. You have complete control over your profile and what images you upload. The search function allows you to find like-minded people by area, race, keywords or check out who the new members are. Once you can view a member you either block them or mark them as a friend. Although this site is very basic and no thrills, this simplicity makes it easy to use and quite intuitive.

www.bigmuscle.com

THIS is more a profile site than a cruise site, but we found the quality of men to be the highest on all the sites viewed. This may be due to their approach to setting up a profile. Once you sign up you have complete control over your profile, but the administrator will randomly check profiles so that you conform to various standards. You must have clear face and body pics and no sex pics - those who do not conform to this will be removed.

There are some limits for free profiles such as you can only upload three photos per day. You can upgrade your profile by giving a donation (used to offset the cost of this 'free' site) and this will remove the limited number of daily image uploads and add track marking of those who visit your site. Otherwise, you have complete freedom to use the site for viewing profiles and messaging members. The main form of communication is an email based system, which is not as instantaneous as IM.

Messages are stored in a mailbox you access through the My Bigmuscle link. This will also lead to your profile preferences and a well laid out 'hot list' of guys that have marked 'I like' on your profile. The site claims to have 20,521 active profiles with photos but this does not mean they are online now. By clicking on Profile List, you can see who is online.

www.m4m4sex.com

THIS is a US-based site and is very popular Stateside. On our test night we found 5,766 online worldwide, with a surprisingly high 213 cruising in London. Signing up for this site is free, and because you live in London, upgrading to the premium membership is also free. Being a premium member means you can upload more photos, save more messages and there is not 'time cut off' for how long a new message will be held.

This is truly a cruise site where sex is the main aim. When you log on you are asked to choose what you are looking for and, if not now, when. The site offers a grading system of profiles into A, B, C & D lists, where A is for hotties, B for sex mates, C for message exchange and D stands for Dumped!

At first, the website needs some navigational skills and I finally got the hang of the email instant messaging system, which can be accessed in several ways. A constructive criticism is that this is not the quickest way to talk to members as it relies on receiving messages.

The chat option is instantaneous and from its window you can preview profiles and have a one-to-one instant chat with others. Other features include 'Make A Date' where you can let others know when you want to meet and they will 'schedule' themselves into your diary and the M4M-Mobile which is a system that allows you to receive messages on your cell phone.

The system also includes a WAP-formatted web page which will allow you to view ads and respond to members from your web-enabled mobile phones. You can also create voice profiles where others can leave and listen to short voice messages, just to make sure they sound as butch as they look. In general the site clearly lives up to its aim.

www.gayromeo.com

I was most impressed with Gayromeo.com. The site is free to join up, which gives you unlimited messaging and profile viewing. There are some restrictions on how long the system may hold messages and store settings, but Gayromeo+, which costs around £2 a month, extends all its services beyond what you would probably use it for.

This site allows you to upload numerous pics both X-rated and G-rated. At first, your profile needs to be approved by the administrator or by other members (you can choose which one, the latter only taking minutes with the former hours).

Based in Germany, it is very popular in its home country and is growing across the continent. For the UK I was surprised at finding 200 users online. Soon after joining I received over 40 messages by their instant message system, making them one of the friendliest sites I have come across. The system allows you to store messages and check out those who have visited your profile. Along with an excellent instant search function, the site has many extras such as a growing online database of gay magazines, the ability to create 'cruise cards' using information from your own profile and the ability able to print them using your own printer, decorative desktop wallpapers, an online cruise game and a Sex Factor type of contest called the Sexy Test.

One unique feature we found was that other members can verify who you are by stating they know you personally. This creates a verification system where bogus members with fake profiles are weeded out. The site also allows you to set up like-minded clubs, friends list and a hot list which can be viewed by other members.

www.recon.com

RECON is the umbrella site for an assortment of specialised affiliate websites. Catering more towards those with an interest in fetish we found Recon.com had nearly 5,000 cruising their sites with 600 in London. The site allows profiles with both private and general pics, although your profile must first be approved, with each photo uploaded being graded by the site's administrator. Although free to join we found we quickly ran out of messages; they grouped profile views and message views together counting as one view limiting our free use of the site. Upgrading for a month will cost you £8.00 although the longer you upgrade the cheaper it becomes. Once you have upgraded, you have unlimited use of the site. Searching for members is easy and can be done by area, affiliate site, keyword and even by body type. A couple of unique features of the site include viewing the longest logged on profiles, the most viewed profiles and by those who have recently updated their profiles. The main form of messaging is by IM and/or email where you are allocated a message box where messages can be stored, deleted or the past correspondences can be viewed. The message window also shows who has recently checked out your profile.

ANOTHER Stateside website, you join Dudesnude by adding yourself to community for which you need to be approved for. If you want to join Fit Jock Dude, that is what you must be, otherwise perhaps leather men or Sex Pig is more you. London members of this site can easily be found under the search function where you can find members by location right down to the nearest borough. On Monday night we found 1,617 online members with nearly 100 of these in London. This site has one of the best search functions we found where profiles can be viewed by location, most 'hot listed', by photo (such as images with underwear only) or you can search the site for people who only have marked you as 'hot'. A unique function of the search engine is the ability to compile a virtual hot list based around certain search strings you place in the engine which are then cross referenced coming up with the guys it thinks would be most suited to you. Profile creation allows both private pics (that can be sent to other remembers using their email client) or general pics (images need to be approved and rated) that show on your profile. You can even upload small video clips of yourself. You have the ability to verify your profile and this is done by the site emailing you a number that then you must show in a photograph with yourself. A hassle, but at least you know who is real on the site. Some members will only search for verified profiles, and with good reason considering how much bullshit there is in the cyber world.

www.mand8.com

THE relatively new Mand8.com revealed on a Monday night an online population of 232. Like the other sites you can set up a profile for free with both private and general images but unlike other sites this site remains 100% free with unlimited access to all its web services.

By far Mand8.com had the most ways of communicating with others either by email, IM, video chat (very popular), by voice (like using a phone, but over an IM client) and by general chat rooms. Profiles show which other users have microphones and webcams if you prefer to cyber than arrange a meet, or just drop in for a perv.

Members can set up friends list and networks too, where networks are mini-sites of people who feel they may have something in common. Unique to this site is the testimonials where members can write what other members are like. We found everything from 'wild in bed' to 'what a nice guy' as testimonials.

Apart from the cruising, Mand8 also has forums, an event calendar and links to various interest groups. They also have a mobile phone network called the Mand8 express phone chat: a fast, real-time Voice IM platform that also allows you to connect live 121 with other Mand8 members over your mobile phone.

72 HOURS IN THE BIG

Steve V reports on this year's Stonewall Equality Walk...

ON this particular trip, part of my 72 hectic and fun-filled hours in New York was to do the Stonewall New York Equality Walk. With the opening party being held in the swanky Soho House, how Sex And The City could I get?

This well planned and executed event is actually a fabulous way to discover Manhattan if you are a NYC virgin. As the route took you into Central Park then up as far as 66th St. and on to the Dakota Buildings where, as a memorial to John Lennon, a mosaic with the poignant word 'Imagine' is set into the sidewalk. There was celeb spotting at Tavern On The Green where I stopped for a coffee and bagel, I double glanced to as I caught Billy Joel 'Uptowning' it.

Then it was on to the longest part of the walk, straight down Broadway, the famous avenue that divides Manhattan in two. We passed the Empire State Building – marvelling at how tall the structure is – before reaching Macy's (resisting the temptation to shop in the world's largest department store) before arriving at Washington Square (Friends territory).

As you enter the finance district, the route of the walk brings you to Ground Zero and the vast hole left behind by what was the tragedy of 9/11. A moment to reflect on the scene and the cross that has been created out of two steel girders that once formed part of the Towers.

With the walk finishing at the famous Stonewall Bar in the heart of Greenwich Village, all the walkers were presented with their certificates and stories were exchanged. Gaydar Radio's Robin Crawley had a brief chat with Michael Cashman and to quote the MEP,

"It's a great way to raise a lot of money without being angry. It's proactive. We've raised a lot of money this weekend to make sure the world doesn't spin backwards. It's great to be out with a group of people, learn about them and realise that we are individuals trying to live our own lives and that we should enjoy the rights and privileges others take for granted."

Rested and rejuvenated after the walk, our hotel, the Ameritania (West 54 and Broadway) was an ideal mid-town location from which we spent the rest of our trip shopping, dining, drinking and dancing. No trip to New York would be complete without seeing a show and a group of us managed to get tickets to The Colour Purple, the Oprah Winfrey produced musical based on the novel by Alice Walker. To say that this was a jaw-dropping, toe-tapping, heart-wrenching experience would not do the show justice. Take advantage of rush seats (last minute, unsold seats normally available from theatres rather than TKTS booths in Times Square) for a great saving – we got $240 tickets for $66 on the day of the performance. If you ever cross the pond, go see it!

Abercrombie & Fitch on the Down Town end of Fifth Avenue is a gay man's paradise. It's very clear that the sales staff are hired for looks, as most of the male staff grace the pages of the store's catalogue. When you enter into a transaction it's very clear that they are trained in ensuring you leave A&F blissfully happy.

Nearby, and right next to Ground Zero, Century 21 is a vast warehouse of a superstore where all manner of designer clothes, underwear, luggage and fragrances are at such low prices, I found myself having to purchase another suitcase so I could get my 'booty' back to the UK. Uptown, Bloomingdales and Tiffany's are minutes apart, which could possibly mean that the credit card continues to receive a severe battering – but let's face it, sometimes it just has to be done.

Eating out in New York, all tastes and budgets are catered for with an incredible diversity of options – where do you begin! Brooklyn Diner for breakfast, brunch and deserts or Shelley's for oysters, fish and surf'n'turf on (104 W 57th St at 6th Avenue).

Gay nightlife in Manhattan is now very tailored to specific needs following the previous Mayor's clean up, the effects of which are still very noticeable. Long gone are the pimps and hustlers of 42nd St and Times Square. With a so many venues to choose from, you might start at Splash (50 West on 17th St), Stonewall (history was made there, 53 Christopher St 113 7th Waverly) and Cosmo on (359 W 54th between 8th and 9th Avenue).

Get a copy of HX at any of these bars, it's the equivalent version of QX in New York and covers the surrounding boroughs. Next and Metro, two other free magazines, are also very useful for listings, discount coupons and how to get the most out of your stay.

> Travel and accommodation for the Stonewall Equality Walk was arranged by www.gaydartravel.com. If you are interested in fundraising for Stonewall, check out their website www.stonewall.org.uk.

WE NY

GaydarRadio and GaydarTravel would like to thank everyone involved in making the Stonewall Walk For Equality such a huge success and great fun.

It was an honour to walk with so many great people for such a worthy cause and we look forward to seeing you all again in 2006.

► FILM OF THE WEEK

MRS HENDERSON PRESENTS (12)

THIS lively comedy traces the history of Soho's legendary Windmill Theatre, the only one that stayed open during the Blitz. Judi Dench is the feisty owner who locks horns with her even feistier manager Bob Hoskins, but they join together to fight the censor (a superb Christopher Guest) over the right to stage ever-so-tasteful nude stage shows for the soldiers. It's a terrific slice of London history, and the energetic script is full of sharply detailed characters. Will Young is even on hand as a gay musical theatre star. He's great, but it's not much of a stretch, is it?

Rating ★★★★★☆☆

► ALSO THIS WEEK... > FLIGHTPLAN (12) features such a riveting central performance from Jodie Foster that we barely notice how preposterous the plot is. She's a resourceful woman whose daughter goes missing on a transatlantic flight. The superb Peter Sarsgaard, Sean Bean and even Greta Scacchi are also on board. But you'll only enjoy it if you switch off your brain at the door.

Rating ★★★★★☆☆

► THE EXORCISM OF EMILY ROSE (12) seems to be an effort to make an intelligent, realistic thriller about demonic possession, however, this is actually a courtroom drama with exorcism flashbacks. It's quite interesting and thought-provoking, with good acting by Laura Linney, Campbell Scott and Tom Wilkinson. While the devilish bits are horror-movie creepy. Entertaining, but nothing special.

Rating ★★★★★☆☆

► EVERYTHING IS ILLUMINATED (12) is a quirky voyage of self-discovery starring Elijah Wood as a guy who travels to Ukraine to dig up some family secrets. Hint: It involves the Nazis. The film is directed with lots of colour and style. But the odd combination of deranged characters and wacky situations keeps us from ever really getting involved.

Rating ★★★★★☆☆

► MAD HOT BALLROOM (U) documents a programme in New York City schools to give kids some self-respect by teaching them ballroom dancing. The ethnic mix of students is fascinating, as is the growing sense of competition between schools. By the end we're cheering for them and their camp teachers as if we were parents ourselves.

► DVD OF THE WEEK

ANDREW & JEREMY GET MARRIED (15)

THIS straightforward, rough-edged documentary follows a gay British couple over 10 months, leading to their partnership registry ceremony. But it's the couple in question that makes this film so fascinating. They're seriously unlikely: Andrew is a blokey 49-year-old retired bus driver who's addicted to heroin and rough anonymous sex. Jeremy is a civilised 68-year-old writer in middle class Chelsea.

But as we watch them, we can see the spark that holds them together. In the end the film doesn't say much beyond, 'Gay people discover love in the strangest places.' That's not exactly revolutionary, but it is rather comforting (Tartan).

QX RECOMMENDS...

1. THE CONSTANT GARDENER • Don't miss this entertaining and provocative romantic political thriller.

2. IN HER SHOES • Terrific acting and a smart script make this chick flick well worth seeing.

3. HARRY POTTER AND THE GOBLET OF FIRE • Lively and gripping romp.

4. MRS HENDERSON PRESENTS • Judi Dench and Bob Hoskins in a first-rate historical comedy.

5. MAD HOT BALLROOM • Thoroughly engaging doc about dancing school kids.

HOT OFF THE PRESS...

COLIN FARRELL and Scarlett Johansson will play brother and sister in Borgia, the true story of a notoriously manipulative 15th century Roman family • Emily Mortimer will costar with muscly Ryan Reynolds in the romantic comedy Chaos Theory, about a control freak who stops planning his life • Wrestling superstar John Cena will apparently take over from Arnold Schwarzenegger for a remake of the 1987 aliens-in-the-jungle thriller Predator • And British stars David Thewlis and Pete Postlethwaite will join Liev Schrieber, Julia Stiles and Mia Farrow in the horror remake The Omen 666, aiming for a 6/6/06 release. Clever, that!

MIRRORSYSTEM

ALBUM: MIRRORSYSTEM
ARTIST: MIRRORSYSTEM
LABEL: A-WAVE
STYLE: ELECTRONIC CHILL.

LET me introduce Steve Hillage & Miquette Giraudy, from System 7, who, together, make MirrorSystem. On this self-titled album they don't move far from their roots putting together a myriad of sounds and aural landscapes that are made to seduce the listener into a chilled out state of being. Some are moody and mystical like the opening track 'Cloud 11' and others are more dramatic, best represented by 'Stella'. Essentially, however, whether it's borrowing from ethnic flavours such as the track 'Hilal' or just being Balearic in its approach such as the tune 'Lazy', it's all electronic and more importantly chilled. Perhaps at times it can get a little too esoteric and the eclectic sounds can work a little against them, but in total it all pulls together to make a unique chill-out album that will stand out amongst the rest if not alone for its individual style.

ALBUM: AFTERDARK
ARTIST: VARIOUS
LABEL: STEALTH
STYLE: PROGRESSIVE/TRIBAL HOUSE

AFTERDARK is a new double disc compilation from Stealth records featuring the DJing talents of Roger Sanchez & Tom Stephan. While Tom Stephan expectantly plays a deep and dark set, Roger Sanchez also highlights this sound which is more of a feature from his late hour's mixes. Disc one belongs to Mr Sanchez who mixes up a progressive sound with some rocking electro grooves. Included are tracks like DJ Roosters & Sammy Peralta's 'Shake It' and circuit favourite Suzanne Palmer with an Anthony Acid remix of her tune 'Sound Of The Drum'. On his disc, Tom Stephan pretty much sticks to what he knows best and weaves a tough tribal and electronic sound. Featuring his own mixes of Sanchez's 'Turn On The Music', Fuzzy Hair's electronic 'Kind Of Voodoo' and electro maestro Mike Monday on 'Belter'. Together these DJs represent different moods of the darker side of house. Think New York, think dark warehouse and think lasers and you'll have captured the essence of the sound here. This is one for those who like their tunes deeper, darker and dirtier.

> SINGLES

Artist: Charlotte Church
Title: Even God
Label: Sony

IS invoking deity in your songs really necessary? Presumably this is a Christian God, but maybe she's all new age. Charlotte goes from bad to worse with a shift from her up-tempo hits instead to showcase her undeniably strong, classical vocals on this piano-led ballad. A tour of cruise ships, schools and Butlins beckons.

Artist: Pussycat Dolls
Title: Stickwitu
Label: Polydor

STICKWITU is the follow-up to the Pussycat Dolls' debut hit 'Don't Cha'. In contrast with their feisty previous hit, this one's a soulful pop ballad with an r'n'b flavour, and is not as instant. Still, perhaps the ultimate bubble-gum girl band? Move over Girls Aloud (who are also signed to Polydor)!

Rating: ★★★★★☆☆

✓ SINGLE OF THE WEEK

Artist: Babyshambles
Title: Albion
Label: Roughtrade

WHAT a dangerous icon Pete Doherty is to impressionable teenagers. He makes taking drugs, dating supermodels, being in a band and getting arrested seem effortlessly cool and desirable. The least he could do is turn out bad records – but sadly this doesn't seem to be happening. It seems the dole-bound Pete doppelgangers at shopping centres near you will keep multiplying.

Rating: ★★★★★☆☆

Artist: Jamie Callum

Title: Mind Trick
Label: UCJ

ONE of Jamie's weaknesses is that he makes it look easy. Another might be that he's never going to excel in the singles territory. Who buys jazz singles? Not teenage girls. Equally these are strengths, and he no doubt has some longevity and not too much pressure on him. Middle of the road in all respects.

Rating: ★★★★★☆☆

> ALBUM

Artist: Johnny Cash
Title: Ring Of Fire – The Legend Of Johnny Cash
Label: UMTV/Sony BMG

JOHNNY CASH is the ultimate American anti-hero – prison, drugs, and rock'n'roll. As ever, it took his death for the US to appreciate this. Joaquin Phoenix plays Johnny in the coming biopic. 'Folsom Prison Blues', 'I Walk The Line', 'Hurt' – most of the hits are there. But one LP can't do justice to 50 years of music.

✓ ALBUM OF THE WEEK

Artist: Will Young
Title: Keep On
Label: BMG

AS Will Young waves farewell to his reality star past he still has to face his future as an artist. But his future looks promising. Adroitly he navigates the choppy straits of mothers and children record sales without shipwrecking himself on the unforgiving rocks of credibility. It would be hard for anyone to dislike this material.

HOUSE MUSICMAN

DAVE CROSS chats to superstar DJ Danny Rampling on the eve of his farewell DJ set...

ON Saturday 3rd December, at a special one off party at Turnmills, DJ legend Danny Rampling will play his last ever set in London and say good-bye to a career that has spanned three decades and helped changed the face of modern clubbing.

In 1987 Danny and his friends Paul Oakenfold, Johnny Walker and Nicky Holloway took a life changing trip to Ibiza where they were captivated and inspired by the unique blend of early House tracks and other musical styles, a sound that Danny named 'Balearic Beats'. On their return to London Danny launched the groundbreaking club 'Shoom' at a gym in Southwark, which became the focal point of Acid House in the UK and an inspiration to a whole generation of DJs, clubbers and promoters. A residency at Kiss FM followed, more club nights, international DJ bookings, record production and then his own show on Radio 1. Danny Rampling has a career that most of us can only dream of, so my first question to Mr Rampling was obvious; Why is he ending it now?

"I have other ambitions in life that I want to fulfil and I think it's much better to leave this incredible part of my life on a high." Danny's life has changed a lot in the past few years. The 24hr party animal that I first met at Trade in 1994 has been mellowed by success and fatherhood and now his other great love, food, is being given a chance to shine. "I've had the best time DJing, all over the world, but eventually the travelling does get to you and now I have a family, I want to throw myself into my new venture, my restaurant project," he adds that he wants it to be in a "relaxed place, with some cool music and a great atmosphere."

We talk about the creative process involved in making music and cooking and in fact when I ask him what kind of food he wants to serve, his answer could easily be referring to his DJing style!

"Interesting, different flavours mixed together, not too heavy and very tasty!"

In typical Rampling style, his farewell night at Turnmills, called Morning Glory, will be one hell of a party. The club will be open from 11pm Saturday night right through to midday Sunday, with Danny joined by a host of other DJs including the legend that is Frankie Knuckles. It's clear how important Knuckles is to Danny: "Frankie is such a wonderful person, a beautiful spirit. He has been so consistent and so massively influential on the dance scene. Where would House music be without him?"

Where Danny expects Frankie to play a mix of current stuff and vocal classics, what of his own marathon 8 hour set on the night? "I really want to cover as much as possible of what I've played and loved over the past 18 years. Not only the obvious stuff, but a few hidden gems as well, starting light and funky and getting a bit more full-on later."

This musical journey is also reflected on 'Break For Love' his new compilation forthcoming on Defected records. And finally I ask him why Turnmills for his swansong gig? "It had to be there, it's a truly unique club. A place almost outside of time and I have so many wonderful memories of miss-spent Sunday mornings. It just seemed the right place for one last party."

➤ Danny Rampling plays his final set at Turnmills on Saturday 3rd December, 11pm-late.

► STEVE LAWLER - 'THAT SOUND' (JOIA RECORDS)

KICKING around for months on a 1-sided 12", featuring Steve's own mix, this now begins to live up to some of the hype thanks to five new remixes which have been split across two 12"s. The track is centred around a catchy vocal sample from an old Nervous track called 'In Stereo' by Flip Flop. The first 12" includes a painfully dull Skylark mix as well as dark and throbbing Mario Piu remix. But waste no time and head straight to the lush Milk & Sugar mix which more than saves this package. Gloriously old skool without sounding dated. Funky beats, piano stabs and that all-important vocal hook are all whisked up to create a rather frothy remix. Packed with energy and drive – love it. The second 12" comes with a Sebastian Ingrassio &

Steve Angello mix that's very reminiscent of the 'One Eye Shut' remix they did for Robbie Rivera. Once again the winning mix is on the B-side – this time courtesy of Jerry Ropero & Denis The Menace. These guys seem to be on a roll at the moment. If you know their stuff, you'll know what to expect: big breakdowns/build ups and driving bass-lines, cemented with big piano hooks and crowd noises. Ace

► CASSIUS - 'SOUND OF VIOLENCE' REMIX (W/L)

CRUELLY overlooked when first released a couple of years back, this has remained a firm club favourite and remains in many a DJ's bag as a 'classic'. This now returns for another bite of the cherry via a new remix from Jakob Carrison on a limited 1-sided 12". Retaining the key elements of the original mix, this teases you for the first 4mins+ before dropping the full hook and chorus. Search high and low for this – well worth the trouble, you won't be disappointed.

► FUTURE FUNK - 'WILDBERRY TRACKS (MAKING LOVE)' REMIX

ANOTHER one that's been knocking around over the summer, slowly growing into a bit of anthem – Future Funk's 'Wildberry Tracks'. Originally released on Python Records with a Kucho! Remix, this stylish disco house track now gets re-tweaked to include a whole song via JT's Bash Vocal mix. It sticks close to the original version, but the new vocal is a nice touch and manages not to sound cheesy as some of these tracks can do when vocals are added for the all important radio edit. More mixes to follow.

► 1GNITION - 'LOVE IS WAR' (HUSSLE RECORDS)

WONDERFULLY bouncy house track that straddles the line between several genres, which will no doubt ensure it is championed by many DJs. Licensed from Kingsize Records, this comes in two versions – both by MR Timothy. Featuring semi rapped male and female vocals (including a killer chorus) over some seriously MURK-like synth stabs and funky guitar licks, this is rather good... If you were into Paris Avenue's 'I Want You' you'll like this. The second mix is aided by some rattling percussion and some mad bleeping noises. Not sure about the indie guitar sounds. A side rocks though. Extremely refreshing.

Mark Moore discovers Public Transport is not a hot new Electro band

MARK: I have been summoned for jury service and have put everything on hold to give it my full attention. I AM TAKING THIS VERY SERIOUSLY. On my first day at the Old Bailey I was surprised to see press cameras and photographers assembled outside and it felt just like a film premiere. Obviously, word had leaked out about my first day of service and, while it was a lovely gesture from the press, it was totally unnecessary. (Julia: the fact that Romeo from the So Solid Crew is on trial plus a couple of high profile murder cases lead us to believe that perhaps this was the reason for the press being present. But please keep this a secret from Mark. He'll be most upset). Being on 'DJ time' since leaving school I found it hard to adjust to a 7am rise (something I only do occasionally when catching a plane) but eventually I got into the swing of things. I also decided to go the full hog by catching a bus to the court. Something I haven't done for 17 years. On the first day I got thrown off the bus for not buying a ticket in advance. Why did no one tell me about that! And does one tip the driver? Being the street savvy person that I am I have now become au fait with the public transport modus operandi and intend to buy a lobster card. Also there was a bomb scare on the bus - a large package with no owner. I was too exhausted to move and was relieved when a passenger stamped on the package with her foot proclaiming, "It's fine". Hoorah for the British public!

PRINCESS here... Poor old Mark, right out of the loop dealing with the 'real world'! Here's one to get you going. Play it loud... very loud! T. Raumschmeire's 'A Very Loud Lullaby' out on Novamute. May I say it's got all the elements of now! Club and cabaret wise it's the last few nights of Justin Bond and the Fruedian Slippers at Too 2 Much. Come down on Thursday 'cause I'll be spinning some inbetween records. Ok, it's the turn of the Lovely Jon Jo to guest the decks at The Cock this week. This will be a real treat! Jumping ahead to 1st December - World Aids Day - a great celebration taking place at the A.K.A. (upstairs from The End), The Most and Cantankerous will be on with a truly fantastic array of top notch DJs... Right, I'm in a bit of a hurry. Gotta rush down to Trash for the unveiling of Tiga. He's had numerous club hits such as 'London's Burning' over the years, so if get a chance to hear him play I suggest you get your arses in motion, now!

KITSUNÉ QU'EST CE QUE C'EST?

What exactly lies behind the mysterious Kitsuné label set up by two Parisians and renowned (London based) graphic designers Abake? An exciting record label with unrivalled connections, famous for its thematic compilations, ebullient music-labs offering today some of tomorrow's important artists. There are regular one-off projects too as well as a clothing range. Gildas Loaec and Masaya Kukori, A&Rs and DJs, explain:

YOU have strong connections with Japan, how come? "The Japanese were the first to be interested in what we're doing. Masaya's working daily with Japan and more than twenty shops are now selling our clothes over there. Everybody consumes madly in Japan. Shopping is a real hobby for them."

Loaec is not new to the music world. He used to own a little record shop in Paris where he met Daft Punk. They got on well and he ended up running their labels Roulé, Crydamoure and Daft Trax. He'll only admit to be good at advice and jokes but really he's very much of a right-hand man. "I was introduced to Abake, a collective comprising of Patrick, Kaisa, Maki and Benjamin, when les Daft were looking for a good art director (they did the sleeve for the live album) and fell in love with their work. Slowly we got into the idea of creating a brand together (music and more). Oh yes, we're big Ichatters - the chat system for Mac is really helpful to correspond between us on a daily basis... As A&R we are trying to establish a quality label with different yet good, eclectic music that can please most people. It's worked so far. In three years we've already sold more than 100,000 records... not bad for a little structure such as ours."

Kukori, who arrived in France in his early teens, had to learn the language with his fists on the school playground. Originally an architecture student, he now designs the clothes. Is there a Kitsuné aesthetic that encompasses music, clothes, style? "I think we could call it... 'new classic', something that can work long term. A little traditional maybe... but not necessarily too obvious. You need to take the time to watch, touch, feel. All our projects have a story to tell..."

You've just been touring with Soulwax/2 Many DJs and were recently in London djing at the re-launch of the Family club. What does it feel like to be appreciated in all the right circles? "Oh we'll do anything to be considered the coolest people in the world. No seriously, we are very pleased that people seem to like what we're doing. Please come visit us in our little shop in Paris. You'll find nice quality products: jeans, polo shirts, cashmere sweaters... Our next important release will be the second Kitsuné Maison compilation early 2006. Apart from that right now we're developing Digitalism, our first proper signature to the label."

ROCK CHIC!

IS there life without a dick? You bet – some fifty percent of the human race are female, darlings! And contrary to the ravings of misogynist numb-nuts, ladies can indeed rock fiercer than Ozzy Osbourne on crack! The perfect case in point? Marianne Faithfull, the archetypal marriage of class and excess! In late September, on the final date of her Before The Poison tour, she slaughtered doubting critics wholesale, with a killer gig that's already a bootleg Holy Grail!

But don't get the wrong idea about Madam. Sure, she was born with a silver spoon in her mouth, but unlike talent-free tart Paris Hilton, Faithfull's no smug surfer on poor people's misery; she's earned her credibility by walking the walk, not just miming the talk! Mutating from a shy, fey, spun-sugar folk babe in the early 60s, Marianne – via Jagger and the Stones – soon moved on to harder sounds – and sex. Giving the lie to the notion that the privileged are mentally disabled at birth, Marianne resuscitated an aristocracy of the spirit worthy of John Rochester, the poetic libertine immortalised in Johnny Depp's new movie.

In a nutshell, it's a sensibility not only open to every extreme, but capable of integrating them into a heightened, ever-present sense of haute debauchery, something Jagger never managed; he was too in love with the addictive banality of his tax returns!

Marianne, meanwhile, developed a near-lethal smack habit, and lived homeless in the streets of Soho for years, gradually accruing the raw grit – and balls – showcased in Broken English, her staggering, 1979 comeback album.

Making Janis Joplin sound as inoffensive as Victoria Beckham's barely-there, air-brushed warblings, Faithfull's raw wound of a voice screeched like a pus-filled hag full of final, syphilitic agony. A gripping, if non-stop wallow in emotional sewage, the album's finest moment was Heathcote William's song, 'Why'd Ya Do What You Did?' featuring arguably the most hurt lyric in modern pop; 'Everytime I see your cock/I see her cunt in mah bed!'

Well, what else would you expect from the great-granddaughter of Leopold Von Sacher-Masoch, the man whose name lives on in the sexual fetish Masochism!

Ah, but did Marianne bring pain to any members of her recent audience? Only to those expecting a lazy trawl through greatest hits; it physically hurts lazy, second-rate hacks to be forced to change their opinions! And forced they were. Openly contemptuous of the anti-cigarette lobby (and what idiocy is that – one breath of traffic fumes equals 40,000 Marlboro?) Marianne, fag in hand, sidled on stage with the top-heavy grace of a languid, low-slung Chevy. So far, no surprises – good (or even bad) living invariably adds inches to calorie-craving, post-junkie flesh. But if her waistline's flirting with heavyweight boxer status, Marianne's vocal cords have also thickened, and indisputably, stolen the heavyweight, chanteuse crown!

Plumbing depths no tube-train could reach, she begins a dark, majestic assault on her songbook, with the snapped bark of Lennon's 'Working Class Hero' scraping like fish-hooks in the inner ear!

You want mercy? Drop dead! Working her band with anti-personnel, military precision, Marianne shoots hard and fast, taking absolutely no prisoners! There's the thick, fake-fur duvet smother of 'As Time Goes By', now sung as a wistful lament for the slow, imperceptible throttling of youthful promise, and a simply radioactive 'Sister Morphine', all shrieking need and imminent heart-failure, with none of Mick's petulant, faux-addict titillation.

The total effect? Like cringing from mortar shrapnel in Baghdad – every lull in Marianne's sonic attack sparks a skin-crawling, expectant rush! For art-fags already converted to the Gospel According To Madam Mars Bar, no further pleading is necessary, but any curious parties – or Faithfull virgins (are there such things?) should pick up a copy of her 'Before the Poison' album ASAP.

Oh, and please, dear innocents, don't believe the hype; the vaginal confectionary story was whipped up (ha, ha) by sex-starved tabloid jerk-offs anxious to vilify the Stones and any young upstarts who dared enjoy themselves!

How times have changed – short of shagging an entire zoo, it's almost impossible to interest our dear, deeply blasé public!

HOT TIPS & OPENINGS

Oval Theatre
52-54 Kennington Oval
29th November – 3rd December
Tel: 020 7582 0080

TWO gritty plays highlighting the highs (and lows) of contemporary, Black British life. 'Weights' is the story of a man shot and senselessly blinded in South Central LA overcoming life's obstacles; and 'Whistling Maggie' is 'Yes, Minister' in a skirt, as a political analyst wrestles with revealing a destructive secret for a Prime Ministerial candidate she's about to interview.

► BLACK COMEDY UBU THE KING BY ALFRED JARRY

Barbican Pit Theatre
Silk Street
30th November – 10th December
Tel: 020 7638 4141

JARRY'S unmissable portrait of an iconic asshole, which, with its lavatorial language and humour, changed the course of modern theatre.

CABARET

Hello Bitches,

Well yes, it's that time of year again... a time to think suicide, hot baths and razor blades. Yes, it's fucking Christmas time! A time to get totally cunt-ed! A time to let all the stress out of the whole year onto your family and friends! Nothing like a good fisting over a turkey!

If it's Christmas that also means I am jetting in for my annual Christmas Show 'The Sky's the Limit'. Last year Snow White made it to number one on the 'top ten' Pantos with me sniffing up her skirt with a second place.

Well my little pretties it's time Snow White got gang banged by a football team (that doesn't sound too bad actually) and got run over by a double decker bus... It's PAM's turn to top the Panto's....I don't need 7 fucking dwarfs...well, I confess I did try to get them. Watch out little people I am out to get 'cha. OOMPA LOOMPA!

'The Sky's the Limit' is my new Game Show on board my 70's inspired airplane. Wait 'til you see it - think Price is Right, on crack, set on a plane. This year I am looking forward to loads more audience participation and even more stupid and ridiculous amounts of fun and games. So if you feel like getting up on a stage this year and giving it some campness, then get your "cha cha" heels on and get your booty down to the Bloomsbury Theatre.

My gorgeous Pam's People dancers Jet and Set are back from a stint at the PAM ANN One World Alliance School of Jazz. Judy Freeh, my personal mute assistant, will be plucked from the audience each night.

Trolley Dolly is back from hospital after she got caught up in the Tube bombings. DJ Little John is on the decks making it random and mental. Also on board, making her debut supporting role is my Chinese colleague Lilly. Watch your Gucci hand bags and make sure there is nothing sharp in your carry on. Lilly will be checking you in!

It is very exciting and I can't wait to see you all again, it feels like far too long between lines! And I am so excited now to bring to you my BRAND new One World Alliance video featuring cabin crew from around the world. And just between you and me, U2's lighting designer is lighting up my plane - not bad, ha! HELLO HELLO...

Don't forget to start buying your tickets for the Red Heart Ball this Sunday at KoKo. I know its not Madonna bitches, but it's going to be a fabulous night, one I have needed for a while after touring up and down this fine country of yours. I am looking forward to letting my hair down and causing as much trouble as I can next week at what I can foresee as being the party of the year. So don't miss it! "I'm a star in NY a star in LA!"

"Jingle Bells, Jingle Bells, Jingle all the way...Santa is GAY! (He is I saw him at Dirty Fairy wearing black patent work boots carrying a sack talking to Cliff the editor of this magazine - SLUT!)"

Happy Fucking Christmas,

Love,

PAM ANN x

P.S. All I want for Christmas is some big black cock!

> Catch Pam Ann at the Red Heart Ball along with DJs Steve Pitron, Wayne G, Brent Nicholls, Ben Jamin and a PA by Therese at KoKo, 1 Camden High St this Sunday 27th November, 7pm-2am. Tickets £10 in advance from usual outlets or £15 on the door. All proceeds go to the Elton John AIDS foundation and GMFA.

NIGEL AND 'NITA'S CHRISTMAS WEDDING

5TH - 10TH DECEMBER

> New Connaught Rooms, WC2

ARE you partial to the odd game of Cluedo? Do you have a penchant for good Who Dunnit? This hilarious comedy night combines a shotgun wedding murder mystery with dinner. Before being seated for dinner you'll be greeted by Nigel and 'Nita and their dysfunctional East London family. The bride is pregnant, the groom is rich and the maid of honour is man hungry. Three-course dinner and show costs £49.95 a head (incl VAT) and groups of all sizes can be catered for. For more info go to www.stageworksproductions.co.uk. Make this a Christmas party to remember.

ME AND MY BIG MOUTH STARRING KYM MAZELLE

THURSDAY 1ST DECEMBER

> Too2 Much, 11-12 Walkers Court, Soho

FOR one night only house diva Kym Mazelle performs an exclusive set at Soho's premiere cabaret hot spot. An evening dedicated to "grown up" urban blues, this night is a departure from the regular big club sound synonymous with Ms Mazelle. Backed by the Urban Blues Band, this multi-talented seven piece features Pee Wee Ellis, who composed and played on many of James Brown's hits in the 60s and 70s; Tracey & Tara, who have performed backing vocals for The Moody Blues, Eric Clapton and Otis Grand. Come and hear this lady sing the blues! Tickets cost £12 in advance and are available from www.ticketweb.co.uk.

BAR NEWS

➤ BY MATT JOSHUA

WITH half the poofter populus caught up in Madonna mania and with every club, bar and shop in London playing every conceivable mix of 'Hung Up', it was a case of "if you can't beat 'em, join 'em". What we couldn't bring ourselves to do, though, was hanging out on Compton Street outside G-A-Y Bar from midnight on Friday with the die-hard fans in the hope of getting a coveted wristband to Saturday's gig. Our diverse and colourful scene can always be relied upon to provide an alternative and so seeking to satisfy our Madonna craving, we hot-tongued our best Farrah flicks, donned our obligatory red Kabbalah bracelets (well it's fashion innit?) and headed to Escape in Soho for the massive Madonna Marathon – seven hours of the irrepressible chameleon disco queen. Already in full swing and packed wall to wall, we squeezed through the crowd to get to VJ (Sh) Aaron Stone who was being inundated with requests. Unlike every other Thursday when drinks are 2-4-1 when the selected artist appears on the screen, this week's Crush Bar was in reverse: drinks 2-4-1 when Madonna was NOT on the screen! Mistress of the quick change and with more faces than Jocelyn Wildenstein, drag diva Mariah Scarey wowed the crowd with her uncanny Madonna impersonation. ### ▶ U WISH!

ON December 1st a brand new bar opens in Muswell Hill. One hundred percent gay, open seven days a week and with a late night license (3am during the week, 4am on the weekends), it looks like finally N10 is getting the fab gay venue it has so desperately been crying out for. Managers Val (ex Catch 22) and John have a variety of nights planned with top DJs spinning tunes on the weekends and quiz and karaoke nights planned for during the week. Drinks will all cost £3 (except champers), discounted to £2.50 on Mondays. U Wish! is at 272 Muswell Hill Broadway, N10.

Friday night saw us scrape ourselves out of the QX Swarovski sarcophagus (who needs Botox) and head, once again, towards the bright lights of Soho. First stop, Barcode for Friday night's Deep Down & Dirty session. Undeniably one of the busiest bars in Soho, Barcode never fails to pull in the best mix of men: bears, skins, scalies, club kids, leather lovers and Soho's sexiest and studliest. Arriving at 9:30pm, the bar was already packed upstairs, with everyone getting nicely warmed up for a long night. Jack Frost might have been nipping around outside but inside it was really heating up. Despite DJ Alan X being stuck in traffic, the dance floor downstairs was already getting busy, with one funky mover burning up the dancefloor and providing a great show. Within minutes of Alan X arriving, the floor was instantly packed. Barcode's DJ roster is one of the best in London with the best club DJs having residencies. Alan X and Luke Hope alternate Fridays. Brent Nicholls and Simon Wallis alternate Saturdays. Mario Porter plays Sundays, Elliot J Brown plays Mondays and D-Johnny does Wednesday with MC Crystal. Stewart Who? presents Homosocial on Thursday. For the cheapest drinks in town check out Mondays at Barcode when between 7 and 9pm all house drinks are a quid each! Then from 9pm onwards drinks are £2. Barcode also boasts the largest shooter menu in Soho. Over thirty different shots for just a quid each.

From Soho to Central Station at Kings Cross for a bit of late night lunacy with cabaret duo Trashville Tennessee. Grabbing pole position near the bar (just close enough to the bar for constant refills but not too close to the stage so as to be picked on). Riding on Madonna's success with the 'Hung Up' Abba sample, the girls - Cassidy Connors and Dolly Partem - launched into 'Gimme Gimme Gimme'. But just as everyone started singing along they realised the words had been changed. Riddled with hilarious drug references and ▶

Now if this all sounds a bit clandestine, please let us dispel any notions of dodgy deals behind dark windows. Once inside what is behind the door is truly astonishing! Who would have thought such a large and undeniably very stylish venue was contained behind those doors. Southopia is a members club that was for women and their male guests. However, owners Elaine and Nuala are opening their door to a more mixed gay crowd, although the venue is still members only. ▶ Saturday). Annual members can bring in a guest for free. Great sound system, massive bar, ample seating, projections, gold leaf walls and all the extra touches like lighting, high quality wine glasses, art work and, (we were so impressed), that sensational downstairs bathroom (a real old fashioned powder room complete with sofa!) make Southopia a real diamond find. Traditional roast is served on Sunday, during the week tasty bar snacks. An excellent wine list and mouth watering cocktail list (2-4-1 between 5 and 7pm) are extra icing on an already tasty cake. Open until 11pm during the week and with a late license and some great DJs spinning eclectic sounds on the weekend, shouldn't this be both your local midweek and late night bar if you live in the Kennington/Elephant area? Don't take our word for it, pop in and see for yourself.

SMOLLENSKY'S METRO

BURGERS EAT IN OR TAKE OUT

► BY STEVE VOWLES

UPON arrival at Smollensky's you get a sense of welcome knowing that you are in for a good meal. As part of a chain, the food is presented in a uniform way so you know what you get when you order in any of its branches, but this does not distract from the individuality that this particular branch of Smollensky's has abundantly achieved.

It's very important to point out that the burgers' taste and even construction are closely guarded secrets and the emphasis on keeping the beef patties fresh is paramount. On my lunchtime visit, I had the pleasure of two fabulous guests. Guest 1 went for the generous portion that was the Piri Piri Chicken burger, a skinless marinated breast of chicken using Piri Piri spices that came neatly tucked between two buns with salad. Guest 2 tucked into the sweet chilli chicken, a salad of mixed leaves, cherry tomatoes, cucumber, new peas and cashew nuts tossed in a chilli and ginger dressing that is a carb watchers dream. I opted for the half rack of bone sucking ribs – you just can't beat handling a meal like this with your hands!

Smollensky's are famous for their desserts – all handmade in their Patisserie on The Strand – so without the need for any persuasion from April, our hostess, Blueberry & Almond Pie, Grandma's Peanut Butter Cheesecake and the very very Chocolate Fudge Cake were consumed with the speed of three sprinters leaving the starting line. Utterly worth every bite.

Smollensky's Metro are also very keen to appeal to the likes of us calorie-counting, with three designated dishes available with the Grilled Salmon Fillet in a Teriyaki and Ginger Marinade being my choice if I was not wanting to go up a dress size.

The restaurant is fully licensed offering a range of wines and beers and milkshakes served to you in the true American style, straight from the blender – with a very exclusive take-out menu also available – this branch of Smollensky's is well worth a visit and its easy central location on the Soho borders makes it probably the best burger bar in the West End.

CLUB NEWS

BY KAYE ANDERS

I can't think of three words more likely to get us out on a freezing Thursday evening than 'Discotec', 'Birthday' and 'Party' and they certainly did the trick last week. Gesus might've divested us of our scarves, ear-muffs, hoodies and other wintry accoutrements at the door to check it was really us underneath, but once inside things were as hot as ever. The faggerati were out in force (we spotted Laurence Malice, Kim Lucas and Lee Freeman in a huddle), all the DJs were taking time out to party and a group of spooky harlequins led by Jodie Harsh had brought all the party people from The Edge right through the night on to the main floor, where percussionist Joy was driving the crowd into a disco frenzy. This night has been the place to be seen on a Thursday for three years now and shows no sign of letting up yet. Pay a visit next week for their annual World Aids Day fundraiser.

Deep down in Vauxhall's gay village, Friday nights have taken a seriously fierce turn ever since Pump arrived at Fire, taking up the weekly slot there on Friday. Resident Jamie Head plays a little tougher, a little deeper than the standard funky house sound and guest Pagano caught the mood perfectly, whilst Ben Jamin' and friends, and this week's guest Stewart Who?, tore up the

DATES FOR YOUR DIARY:

01/12/05: WINTER WONDERLAND @ SHADOW LOUNGE

SOHO'S chicest and swankiest homo hangout ups the ante in the fabulous stakes and throws a Winter Wonderland Party. Open from 8pm, it's 'members only' until 10:30pm and then £10 for non-members. The dress theme is 1930's glamour, so raid Grandma's closet and kit yourself out in mink and pearls. As well as complimentary food and drink there's a live PA by elusive house diva Dina Vass ('Waiting For You', 'The Love I Have For You'). In support of World Aids Day, donations for The Food Chain are more than welcome. Members should RSVP to info@theshadowlounge.co.uk by 28th November.

01/12/05: ELECTROGOGO

THE legendary Madame Jojo's flings open her doors again for another sensational monthly party featuring some of London's most hip, hot and happening live artists. Fashion queen and legend in her own lunchtime, Pam Hogg adopts her rock chic persona and performs live. Cavelier featuring Mr Cormac and Lekiddo complete the line up. The ice queen of electrosoul, Billy Ray Martin plays a special guest DJ set, as does Berlin's Sasha Helldorado with his new Electric 4 album. Residents Mark Moore, Frankie D and Roi play it through 'til 3am. Bands on from 9.30pm, doors open from 9pm. £5 with flyer.

02/12/05: TONKER

AFTER constant requests to hold another full-on, full-throttle Tonker event in the pink village of Vauxhall, the Tonker team have taken it up a notch and announced a very special Friday night party at the infamous Royal Vauxhall Tavern. Tim Jones, Mr Jones and DJ Paul spin those world class Tonker sounds from 9pm 'til late. Cruise and booze in a relaxed, no-attitude environment with hirsute hunks and their admirers. Thank Tonker it's Friday! Please note, there will still be the regular Thursday night Tonker Lite party in the Barcode Basement Bar on 1st December.

03/12/05: ACTION

LONDON'S super-sized and circuit styled party hosts a special World Aids Day benefit night raising money for the Terrance Higgins Trust. Making their Action debut are the Sharp Boys who join residents Paul Heron, Rob Sykes and Craig Daniel and guests. Top-notch production, eye-popping light show, massive indoor cruise maze and lots of special surprises. The guys from LADS will be on hand dishing out safe sex info, condoms and lube. Watch out for a massive venue refurb coming your way in the New Year.

► dazzling back room with an innovative mash-up of disco and soulful house grooves. It was meant to be our warm-up, a couple of drinks and a little chat at the bar, but before we knew it we'd succumbed to the temptation offered by some naughty friends and the wicked music, and got rooted to the spot right out in the middle of the floor... but then, why would you want to leave? The answer for us was, to get a Load... that's right, feeling a little sleazy we sashayed around the corner to Crash for this night, which has moved from its midweek slot to a monthly prime position so that the beefy blokes and horny homos who frequent it can start their weekend in the way most of them will want to continue... getting their rocks off. It's not that guys here don't dance... it's just that when they do, they're usually thinking about what they're gonna do to that guy they've got their eyes on if they bump into them next door. Ouch! In fact, it's the successful formula of boozing/cruising and dancing that Crash in particular has become synonymous with... and with a promotions team called Big Dick behind this, you know where they're at!

All roads in Soho led to G-A-Y on Saturday for Madonna. During the day queues snaked along Compton Street as eager punters waited for G-A-Y Bar to open and the wristbands to go on sale. Throughout the day, local news carried the stories of loyal fans waiting from the early hours to guarantee their place. Come nightfall and the queues continued outside the Astoria. The building had been draped in Madonna-mania inside and out, topped-off by a giant revolving mirror ball out front. At 9:30pm the doors opened and hundreds of fans flooded in. On the main floor, it was Compressions on a Dance Floor as the capacity crowd found a spot as close to the stage as possible and waited. And waited. Nobody dared give up their vantage point. The bar must have experienced a dip in sales as people refused to give up their place even to buy a drink! Then, almost on the minute at 12:30am it was show time. As the familiar beats of 'Hung Up' and that highly addictive Abba sample of 'Gimme Gimme Gimme' sounded out, the stage wall parted and the lady stepped out of a mirrorballed backdrop. There was a wave of applause and cheer that could only be generated by the world's most famous woman (well, Diana isn't with us any more, is she). Cameras, hands, t-shirts and signs waved frantically as she worked through a set of five songs. From 'Hung Up' and 'Get Together' to the funky-up beats of 'I Love New York' (with an apology to London - as she said herself, 'Don't take the lyrics too figuratively') and then onto the philosophical words of 'Let It Will Be', it was the pick of the best from her Confessions album. Finishing the night with her first hit, a remixed version of sin-

CHERYL Tweedy, Kimberly Walsh, Nadine Coyle, Nicola Roberts and Sarah Harding... Who? Girls Aloud, that's who! The UK's biggest girl group play Astoria, performing their new single 'Biology' as well other massive hits. This performance ties in with the release of the new album Chemistry that comes out on the 5th December. Last time Girls Aloud played G-A-Y they put five beds on stage and threw a slumber party! Who knows what they've got planned this time around. Also appearing on stage will be this week's contestant voted off the X-Factor. Advance tickets available from G-A-Y Bar on Old Compton Street.

G-A-Y

03/12/05: PARTY PROACTIVE

NOMINATED by DJ Magazine in the top 5 London events of 2005 the Party Proactive people take their juggernaut of a night out to Fire in Vauxhall. Laying down the hard beats on the main floor are Trade's Pete Wardman, Danny Gilligan b2b with Baz, Paul Jack b2b with Jacob Moss and Alex Parsons. The Organ Donors and head honcho of Tortured Records, Billy Nasty (three decks) headline. In Room 2 Mark Moore, Tommy Four Seven and Steelo b2b with Ting play electro, breaks and house beats. Open from 10pm 'til 5am. £10 in advance, £15 on the door.

03/12/05: MEGAWOOF!

DEEP, dark and downright danceable, Megawoof returns for a massive Christmas Special of furry fun and festive frolics. DJs Daz Sand, Diddy, David Eph, Paul Warren play the main room. T-Bear, Deep Wolf play the back room spinning funky beats and dirty grooves. Birthday boy Lee Majors hosts and hands out copies of his new CD and fruity vodka cockshots to early arrivals. For leather men, biker boyz, bears, blokes, hunks that funk and any horny dude who's passionate about clubbing, dancing, cruising and boozing.

MEGA WOOF!

04/12/05: SHOOT!

DO you dream of Michael Owen's tackle or getting sweaty with a scrum half? The original sportswear fetish night returns for another monthly session of hot and horny off-the-pitch action at the basement club in Central Station, Kings Cross. With over a hundred guys in sports kit this night is a must for any serious sports gear enthusiast. Strict dress code is enforced so guys in jeans and without trainers will not be allowed to join in the fun. Why not get yourself a new footie shirt, pair of tight nylon shorts or perhaps some rugby kit and get stuck in? Kick off at 7pm. He shoots, he scores!

Shoot!

04/12/05: DTPM

IT'S all change in room 3. Sunday nights at Fabric say au revoir to R'n'B and introduce The Electric Loft. A change in direction sees the introduction of a new sound to this legendary Sunday night monster party. Hosted by Vanity, each week sees different guest DJs spinning funk-up electro and pumped up sexy house beats. Launching this new venture will be De Kutt (Doris or French Kiss and Smack) and long time DTPM deck doyen, Queen Maxine. Dress to impress as the first fifty in the room who make an effort get free drinks. Across the club, tonight's World Aids Day benefit will be raising funds for the Mildmay.

gle 'Everybody', we were left waiting – and hoping – for an encore, teased with the outgoing beats of storming new track 'Jump' and 'Like A Virgin'. But alas, no. Never mind. It may have been short, but even a two hour gig wouldn't have been enough and she more than delivered: from her writhing around on stage, kinky dance moves to her cheeky comments ('This is so much better than Camden Palace'), Madonna came, she saw, she conquered.

Meanwhile, south of the river, it was an altogether different type of celebration as Bootcamp celebrated their 9th birthday. Being of a slutty disposition, there's no such thing as 'enough' and when one of our favourite fetish nights is given a prime Saturday night spot at Substation you know we're cumming out to play... Sure enough, our juices were soon flowing at all the totty on display and we made damn sure that the stimulation was more than visual! The harder beats that guys on this scene tend to go for (from DJ Thanos) set the right mood and once that heady mix of leather, rubber, sweaty jocks and pheromones hit the atmosphere things started to get a little hot... although not many got as wild as the guys on stage! Bootcamp is every Wednesday at Substation South.

Having scored at Bootcamp, we thought we'd have a go at Action where room 2 was fitted out with goalposts for 'beat the goalie' as Stonewall FC were in attendance, celebrating their new sponsorship deal with GAY.COM. Tony Blair may have famously missed his photocall penalty but some of the buff young studs who had a go here obviously knew a thing or two about balls and sticking it in! Back in room 1 meanwhile, it was the unique Action mix of topless men, superb turbo-charged house from Brent Nicholls, Rob Sykes and Paul Heron and sexy soccer-themed go-go boys: a game of two halves really, where the crowd came out as the real winners. Action returns with its World Aids Day fundraiser on Saturday 3rd December.

Another hot ticket on the night, give or take the odd super-

THIS year's Wild Fruit World Aids Day fundraising party at Creation in Brighton will have you seeing red. Red is the theme at this lavish masked ball complete with amazing performance artists and an outrageous hair show courtesy of Venus. Dress to impress. Red is a must, so it's essential that you wear at least, at the very least, a red ribbon. A stellar DJ line up sees Paul Heron, Mr Haywood and Neil Duffie in the main room. Dulcie Danger and Richard Jones play old skool house and anthems in Bamboogie whilst Freddie Thomas and DJ Rokit lay down urban grooves in the Boudoir. Advance tickets advisable. £8 members, £10 otherwise.

Wild Fruit

▶ 04/12/05: MEAT

DANCE, cruise and play at this hugely popular Sunday morning afterhours in a designated space for horny guys with more than just dancing on their mind. Kick ass funky, sexy and twisted tribal beats from Simon Wallis and Rolf. Tonight is Bear Meat, a party specially geared towards hairy hunks and beefy blokes, although all guys are more than welcome. Special live show and horny bear cinema for your early morning titillation. Doors open from 4.30am 'til late. Entry is £10.

▶ 04/12/05: SALVATION

SALVATION returns to the lush, plush surroundings of Café de Paris with another sensational Sex Ball. Supported by Gaydar and raising money for the Elton John Aids Foundation this annual event attracts the capital's hot, buff and beautiful. Resident Luke Hope has prepared another exclusive Sex Sessions for the party that will be recorded for later release. Gonzalo, Per OX and Pier Morocco complete the main floor line up. Mattias and Stewart Who? spin sounds for the very important poofs in the VIP. Tonight, club diva Hannah Jones plays her first London PA with her smash hit 'Music Power'. Limited number of advance tickets available from the usual outlets.

▶ 04/12/05: HORSE MEAT DISCO

GRAB your pumps, trowel on the slap and take to the floor. Horse Meat Disco hosts its first ball. Based on the legendary drag balls of underground New York and immortalised in the film Paris Is Burning where queens from different houses walked against in each other in flamboyant exhibitions of fierceness and realness, HMD's Ball calls all bears, chavs, trannies, club kids and disco misfits from all walks of life to come on down and own the floor. With categories such as 'First time in drag', 'Femme realness', 'Butch queen' and 'Bears in pumps' this contest is open to all, New York's Miss Honey Dijon and Chicago's Derrick Carter join Tasty Tim and resident Shady James. Filthy Luka is Emm Cee and there are performances by queer club royalty Justin Bond and Princess Julia. Open from 6pm 'til late. Entry a fiver. Work it bitch!

HORSE MEAT DISCO

▶ star PA, was undoubtedly the one-off Queer Nation party at Factory. Even with fifteen years of success behind it, it was obvious nobody was quite expecting this to be quite so rammed, but faces old and new turned out to see how those unique QN vibes would spark under a different roof. The venue was bursting at the seams, and with the cloakroom filled from early on, bewildered punters were squeezing through the crowd in jackets and sweaters whilst the bar men were rushed off their feet to meet demand. Most clubs would pay to have the kind of problems experienced here tonight, the proverbial victim of its own success. But despite the air of chaos, that old QN combination of a sexy, friendly multi-racial crowd and the most soulful house sounds around proved a winner yet again. By the time 'Beautiful People' was played at the end of the night, the floor had thinned out enough for guys to bust some moves and nobody was ready to leave. The addition of Christophe Demoulin's urban room with Jeffrey Hinton and Biggy C proved the perfect foil for the soulful house that guest Matt 'Jam' Lamont and residents Supadon and Mike Starr threw down on the main floor. The question on most punters' lips was, 'When can we do this again?' Answer: Saturday 17th December. See you there.

So, another busy week gone, what's coming up you ask...? Following the success of The Summer Ball at the same venue a few months back, Salon's next spectacular at The Great Eastern Hotel will be The Snow Ball on Saturday 17th December. Meanwhile, Salon can be found at The Shadow Lounge for pure disco hedonism each and every Tuesday with Tallulah and Sordid Soundz spinning and every boy's favourite door whore Minty hosting.

Talking of Shadow Lounge, December 1st will see it transformed into a Winter Wonderland with a live PA from house diva Dina Vass, and complimentary food and drink (subject to availability). Dress is '30s glamour...your chance to wear that fabulous Katherine Hepburn-style trouser suit you've had sitting in your wardrobe. The night will be a fundraiser for The Food Chain and is members only until 10pm then £10 for guests.

This Sunday (27th) sees a showpiece event for Red Heart Ball at Koko (formerly Camden Palace) raising money for GMFA and The Elton John Aids Foundation. Organised by Spike and ▶

DISCOTEC

► Crash, the night has a star-studded DJ line-up including Steve Pitron, Ben Jamin, Brent Nicholls and Wayne G, and carries on from the previous Red Ribbon Balls. The name change is intended to inspire safer sex practices and 'to show we care'. Tickets are £15 on the door or £10 in advance from usual outlets.

G-A-Y might find it difficult to follow Madonna but let's face it, we love Girls Aloud almost as much and you can catch them at the club on Saturday December 3rd. The following week will see an appearance from the three finalists of the X-Factor (and the last contestant voted off).

Fat and Forty is the self-explanatory name for fabulous Fat Tony's birthday bash at the Egg on Friday (25th) from nine onwards. With an interesting and eclectic line-up including James Priestly, Jeremy Newall and house legend Robert Owens, the Egg will be putting its 24-hour licence to some use as this one rolls on into Morning Glory, proceeds from Tony's party will be going to Cancer Research.

Sunday (27th) sees the Revival - of Kensington Roof Gardens' infamous Sunday night club, in cahoots with The Elton John Foundation in honour of World Aids Day. If a champagne reception, six-course meal, followed by charity auction and dancing sounds like your thing, you can get tickets from Leza Riley at the venue on 020 368 3979 for £95, or a mere tenner for the evening's disco session without the extras from 6:30pm. The fun starts at 2.30pm and goes right through 'til midnight.

Saturday (26th) is Heaven's 26th (believe it or not kids) birthday party, with a late bar thanks to the new licensing regulations, a fashion show and various cheeky stage performances all night. After that, you know what to expect: five rooms of fantastic music right across the spectrum, from tribal house through R&B through to pop; a stellar line-up of the scene's hottest DJs; and more queens than you can reasonably expect to find under one roof in one night...

Anyone with horny memories of being kept behind after school will wanna check out MA1's new CP night Detention, which launches on Saturday 10th December at Central Station, from 2pm til 7pm. There'll be a classroom area, stripper, screens showing CP videos, a darkroom and free coatcheck, with free ► entry for any naughty lads who come along in school uniform; otherwise, it's £5 or £4 before 3pm.

Meanwhile, Club CP continues as usual at the venue through the evening on the same date down in the basement, with all the little extras you've come to expect (shop selling canes etc.). It looks like some of you boys won't be sitting down for a week!

Trash Palace's Friday nighter Pimp presents its Xmas bash 'Pimp My Sleigh' on Friday 16th December, with their new resident DJ queer rapper Q-Boy alongside Marky playing everything from cheesy rap to Motown to festive disco and R'n'B. With entry a snip at just £3 and drinks starting at £2 who says you need to break the bank to party this Christmas?

We're sorry to announce the news that Club Jackie has cancelled its events at Turnmills. News on the club promoters next activities over to you ASAP.

The Party Proactive crew like it hard too - their next party is on Saturday 3rd December at Fire, with special guests Billy Nasty (playing his funky techno) and Mark Moore (breaks and electro along with house) joining residents Pete Wardman and The Organ Donors. Advance tickets can be obtained via paul@proactive-records.co.uk

The Tonker crew present a special one-off Tonker Party at The Royal Vauxhall Tavern on Friday December 2nd. With hot funky tunes and even hotter guys, this bear club promises to be sociable and steamy, cruisey and boozy.

Don't forget the original bear night XXL can be found at The Arches every

Promoter Patrick Lilley (centre) and friends

Wednesday and Saturday with half-price drinks before eleven and more meat than Smithfields throughout the various rooms. And if you fancy a mid-week bear-fest, then head down there on Wednesday where its free for members and just a few quid for non-members.

It's all change at DTPM as they say au revoir to Stella, Dave Rosen and all the stalwarts that have had room 3 jumping to an urban R&B groove for the last few years and introduce a new electro-themed room, 'The Electric Loft'. Launching on December 4th with special guest Queen Maxine, the club is hoping to attract punters working the punk-skunk look. There are free drinks

► for the first fifty as judged by host Vanity to have made an effort.

Paris may be burning, but 'Vauxhall is Gurning' as Horse Meat Disco presents its very own drag ball on 4th December. With categories including First Time in Drag at a Ball, Femme Realness, Butch Queen and Bears in Pumps, it's all about realness so if you can walk the walk, start working on your costume now! Judges will be Les Child, Princess Julia and Justin Bond, while Filthy Luka will be Mistress of Ceremonies. And just to top things off, music for the night will be coming from Chicago legends Derrick Carter and Miss Honey Dijon.

Don't forget, time is running out fast if you're thinking of entering the Mr. Rude Boyz UK 2006 competition, with the chance to become a QX cover star. Three heats so far have produced six finalists and the club is looking for six more cheeky chavs and sexy scallies to join them, with a guaranteed photoshoot for the Rude boyz calendar and the possibility of winning the £1,000 top prize, the cover and a starring role in the next Rude Boyz movie. Send name, number and DoB to rudeboyzcomp@allthingsorange.com to guarantee your place in the contest on the night or take your chance and turn up on the night.

A different kind of beauty contest going on in Holborn as Exilio sees a parade of Latin lovelies representing twelve nations from Spain and South and Central America in Fantasy, Lingerie and Gala categories. There'll be shows during the night plus winners in the categories of Fantasy, Congeniality and Miss Popular as well as the overall Miss Exilio. This fun-filled and glamorous event takes place on Saturday (26th), doors open at ten.

BOOKS

> BY BEOWULF

> CLOSE UP: An Actor Telling Tales by John Fraser (Oberon)

ONCE a golden youth of post-war British cinema, John Fraser retired from acting several years ago. Currently ensconced in his home in Italy, he has now written his autobiography. He traces his life from the working class environs of Glasgow to his time sharing the big screen with Alec Guinness, Peter Finch and Sophia Loren and how he pursued another career as a travelling player roaming the world with the aid of the British Council. His anecdotes illuminate the other side of fame and celebrity.

> RID ENGLAND OF THIS PLAGUE by Rex Batten (Paradise Press)

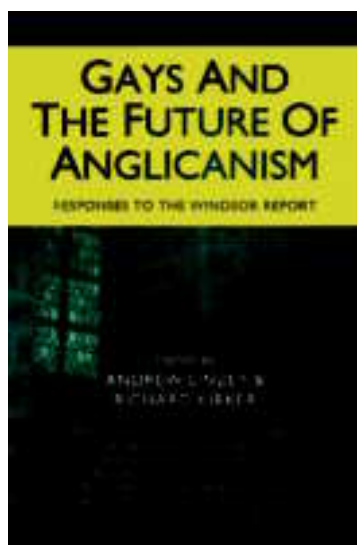

TOM and Michael are a couple. Nothing too strange about that, but they live in the Britain of post-war austerity. With the Iron Curtain drawn across Europe and the Communist threat, there is also a need to regain lost ground in the family and society of general. Led by the newspapers and other public guardians, the government - especially the police - clamp down on those they feel pose a threat to the moral equilibrium. Rex Batten's novel reminds us that what freedoms we have today were gained through the actions of a small group of people who decided enough was enough.

> GAYS AND THE FUTURE OF ANGLICANISM: Responses to the Windsor Report, edited by Andrew Linzey and Richard Kirker (John Hunt)

RELIGION, especially of the fundamentalist variety, has risen its ugly face in the opening years of the twenty-first century. From the pronouncements of mullahs to the attack of plays with a religious theme, the more bigoted side of belief is being giving carte blanche to ride over its more tolerant adherents. Caught in this crossfire, is the Church of England. With falling numbers and infiltrated by evangelical elements, what does this mean for gay, bisexual and lesbian Anglicans? This collection of essays by theologians from both sides of the Atlantic address the many questions raised by the Wilson Report. Will it centralise the Anglican Communion, as hoped, bringing the more wayward elements to heel, or cause its split irrevocably?

> BEAUMEN 2 by Beau (Bruno Gmunder)

BEAU, the Californian artist, has produced a follow-up to his earlier book. Intense, brightly coloured images of young men in various poses. His work derives from Americana of the early part of the twentieth century. Blue-collar men, from cowboys and other manual labourers, are all set centre-stage.

> CHROMA: A Queer Literary Journal

NEW literary magazines are as rare as hen's teeth. Those that cater to new gay and lesbian writing are even rarer, but Chroma is already on its third issue. No doubt aided and abetted not only by more established writers such as Jake Arnott and Peter Burton, but a wealth of new talent. Besides the regular fare of short stories, poetry, art and reviews, it also features black and white photography. Each quarterly issue has a theme and as Shaun Levin, its editor, states will have a "diversity of voices".

> PINK FLAMINGOS AND OTHER FILTH by John Waters (Thunder's Mouth Press)

FILLED with classic stills of two of his finest works, this reprint of three of his filthiest - yet sweetest - screenplays, is testament to John Waters and his pursuit of the comically obscene in both life and on-screen. With a new introduction to his original introduction, this contains the sequel to his great masterpiece. Sadly, this looks likely never to reach any cinema in the near future, as it is too much for our increasingly conservative times. Thankfully, it is still possible to read it in pure black and white.

> DEEP WATER: A Sailor's Passage by E M Kahn (Harrington Park Press)

AFTER the celebration of Nelson's victory at Trafalgar in 1805, here is a novel from the other side of the pond. Eugene Kahn's debut novel deals with one man's two great loves, that of the sea and for another man. Gene is a New Yorker and carpenter and the story of his love for Kevin, whom he loves - and loses - as they sail the waters around the city and beyond. At once a romance and at another an elegy of the AIDS era. The author is clearly a sailor himself but, for those not up on sailing jargon, there is a handy glossary in the back of the book.

> SHOCK VALUE by John Waters (Thunder's Mouth Press)

BAD taste, Baltimore and Divine are but three things that John Waters is most famous for. Since he began his career as a film director, over forty years ago, he has made audiences laugh and puke, sometimes at the same time! This is a reprint of a sort-of biography, where Waters reveals his background, as well as interviewing those who inspired him, including the late, great Russ Meyer.

TWO FACES

HAMMER ENTERTAINMENT Presents Two Faces Shot in Prague this film starts with a straight guy who is seen fondling the butt of a guy in the house. He opens the guys jeans and starts sucking that big uncut cock. They swap places and we see some good ball-bag licking. Two fingers in the butt follow, then it gets filled with hot dick. A sizzling workout ends with both blowing a big load of spunk. More scenes, more sensational sex, camera work and close-ups. Duos and a horny threesome in the bath. Terrific quality. Recommended!
